

IMONED

Improvement of the knowledge, skills and competence of the teachers in on-line and distance education

IMONED

The IMONED project addresses the urgent needs of teachers. However, there are many different e-learning courses for different target groups. Those that are free, are of very low quality and others are paid for, so it is not a good product for teachers. Our product will provide comprehensive knowledge on the preparation, development and implementation of effective distance learning. Furthermore, the project will provide knowledge of the methodological and pedagogical approach to this type of learning, and will provide training in the relevant soft skills needed for this purpose. The IMONED project will closely complement other projects implemented by the partners, as each organisation develops and implements several e-learning projects and selfeducation. In the current situation in Europe and the world, there is a profound lack of knowledge about the subject teachers in the field of distance learning. This is why our project will significantly complement other projects, as it will also increase the absorption of knowledge other projects.

RECENT EVENTS

IMONED project has started! On 17-18 of December 2020 the first meeting of our project took place. Meeting took place on-line with participation of representants of all partners of the project from Spain, Poland, Lithuania and Turkey.

Kick off meeting was devoted for presentation of the project's aims and objectives as well as for development the work plan for entire project. The most important issues were set for the first 6 months of the project implementation. According to the application partnership will work on the first IO for 6 months and discuss next IO during the next meeting in Tureky at the begining of June 2021.

Shortly about project:

The IMONED undertaking will accomplish its objectives by creating 2 fundamental outcomes (scholarly outcomes): IO1 - New and innovative curriculum of the distance learning and training methodology.

IO2 - Technological abilities and devices for sorting out separation learning and tools for creating content for separation learning.

Notwithstanding these OI, the venture will likewise sort out a pilot meeting to recognize potential upgrades, just as a last spread workshop, which will be devoted to expanding information, yet in addition showing educators how to utilize our items for compelling use.

What next?

After elaboration of the Intellectual output 1, we will begin work on the second part of the project products which is training content. It will focus on development of the high quality training content for IMONED target group. This work will be realized another 6 months and will contain development of the content and complex testing by the beneficiaries of our project.
